Message from the President

Our last Voter featured a special section on the proposed Fair Districts amendments, and this issue's lead quote succinctly illustrates why they are so important. Without Fair Districts, gerrymandering rules – and our cherished “one man, one vote” principle is compromised.

I’m pleased to report that over 1.5 million signatures have already been gathered to ensure Floridians will have the opportunity to vote on Fair Districts in 2010. If you haven’t signed the petitions yet, you’ll have a chance to do so at next month’s general meeting (details below).

We are already gearing up for 2010 elections, beginning on page 3 with the first of a series covering the Pros and Cons of proposed amendments to Florida’s Constitution. Each issue will showcase a different amendment to help you make informed decisions.

In the meantime, happy Women’s Equality Day! See this issue’s special insert to learn all about the day and the history it commemorates. When you vote, remember: it’s thanks to the Suffragists!

September “Back to League” Meeting on Fair Districts

Are you confused about the Fair Districts Florida amendments? Well here is your chance to learn all about them and how Okaloosa County is affected by redistricting.

We’ll have maps to illustrate the results of partisan redistricting in our county as well as the rest of the state, and guest speaker Dr. Alfred G. Cuzán, Professor and Chairman of UWF Department of Government, will address the current process and how it would change if Florida voters approve the amendments.

Please join us from 10:00-12:00 on Saturday, September 26th, at Shalimar Town Hall, #2 Cherokee Road, Shalimar. The meeting is free and open to the public. Coffee will be served.

Attention Members: LWV is US!

The September 30th deadline for nominations for the 2010-2012 LWVUS Board and Nominating Committee is fast approaching. If someone in our League would be an outstanding candidate, it’s up to you to nominate that person – or urge him or her to self-nominate.

Despite what the name implies, the LWVUS Nominating Committee doesn’t nominate anyone. They rely completely on strong League member participation to provide a large pool of nominees to build the 2010-2012 slate. No matter how well qualified, a person who isn’t nominated won’t be in the running. League needs members like you tell the committee about the leaders you admire.

Go to the For Members area at www.lwv.org and click on the Call for Nominations box on the right side of the page. Submit your nominations by September 30th.

Remember: LWV is US!

Redistricting Conference Releases “Principles”

On 22-24 July in Pocantico NY, the League joined with the Campaign Legal Center to convene a group of leaders and activists from the reform community and examine possible redistricting strategies and tactics for 2011 and beyond. Palm Beach County member Corinne Miller represented Florida.

Meeting participants approved three Essential Principles for redistricting:

• An accurate and complete count in Census 2010 is an essential building block for all redistricting efforts.
• The process used for redistricting must be transparent to the public.
• The redistricting process, at all levels of government, must provide data, tools and opportunities for the public to have direct input into the specific plans under consideration by the redistricting body.

To achieve representative democracy, redistricting plans must be drawn in a manner that allows elected bodies to reflect the diversity of the populace, especially racial and ethnic diversity. LWVUS will be working with state Leagues to develop a plan for forming important partnerships, and strategies to positively impact redistricting efforts in individual states.

Work we do now to encourage an accurate and complete Census 2010 count will be a key element in our advocacy for Fair Districts Florida amendment approval. (See next article.)

Census 2010: Update

Our Constitution mandates a count of everyone living in the United States every 10 years. Federal law requires participation in this decennial census, because all citizens are affected by the outcome.

At the national level census data are used to distribute Congressional seats to states, make decisions about what community services to provide, and distribute $300 billion in federal funds to local, state and tribal governments each year. At the state level census data are used for various economic and political purposes, including state legislative and congressional redistricting and distribution of services.

The Okaloosa League will showcase the 2010 Census in conjunction with the League’s 90th anniversary celebration next February. LWVUS believes Local League members can play a crucial leadership role by building awareness of the 2010 Census and its importance.

To help members get involved, LWVUS is offering a training conference call for all those interested in doing this important work. The training will be held at 2:30 PM on September 10th, and will feature speakers from the National Census Bureau.

For more information on how to join the conference call, contact Sergio España (SEspana@lwv.org). Get more Census 2010 info at:

Attention Members: It’s Time to Renew!

Your membership renewal invoice will arrive in the mail soon. Please don’t put it aside! We are counting on you to renew promptly so we can continue League operations.

Remember: Okaloosa still has the lowest Per Member Payment in Florida, despite increases at state and national level.
Celebrate Women’s Equality Day August 26th

At the behest of Representative Bella Abzug (DNY), in 1971 the U.S. Congress designated August 26th as “Women’s Equality Day.”

The date was selected to commemorate the 1920 signing of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution, which granted women the right to vote.

This was the culmination of a massive, peaceful civil rights movement by women that had its formal beginnings in 1848 at the world’s first women’s rights convention, in Seneca Falls, New York.

The Woman Suffrage Movement 1848 - 1920

August 26, 2009, marks the 89th anniversary of the Woman Suffrage Movement’s great victory, ratification of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. This courageous political campaign, which spanned 72 years, was carried out by tens of thousands of persistent women and men. The significance of the woman suffrage campaign and its enormous political and social impact has been largely ignored in the telling of American history. It is a story that needs to be told. It is a story of women creating one of the most remarkable and successful nonviolent civil rights efforts the world has ever seen. It is all the more remarkable when one considers the barriers the suffragists had to overcome.

With little financial, legal or political power of their own, and working against a well financed and entrenched opposition, women fought for their rights of citizenship, the right to vote. When they first organized to gain political power, women were a virtually powerless, disenfranchised class. Yet without firing a shot, throwing a rock, or issuing a personal threat, women won for themselves the kind of political power that revolutionaries elsewhere have launched violent rebellions to achieve.

To win the right to vote, women circulated countless suffrage petitions and gave speeches in churches, convention halls, meetinghouses and on street corners. They published newspapers, pamphlets, and magazines. They were frequently harassed and sometimes attacked by mobs and police. Some women were thrown in jail, and when they protested the injustice they were treated brutally. Still they persevered. Finally, on August 26, 1920, their goal was achieved. Women had won the right to vote and to hold elective office.

Carrie Chapman Catt, the last president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, reported that suffragists had undertaken:

“Fifty-six campaigns of referenda to mail voters; 480 campaigns to get Legislatures to submit suffrage amendments to voters; 47 campaigns to get state constitutional conventions to write woman suffrage into state constitutions; 277 campaigns to get state party conventions to include woman suffrage planks; 30 campaigns to get presidential party conventions to adopt woman suffrage planks in party platforms; and 19 campaigns with 19 successive Congresses...It was a continuous, seemingly endless, chain of activity.

Young suffragists who helped forge the last links of that chain were not born when it began. Old suffragists who forged the first links were dead when it ended.”

The American Woman Suffrage Movement stands as a lasting affirmation of our country’s democratic promise for it re-emphasizes the importance of the most fundamental democratic values: the right to vote, and the possibility of peaceful yet revolutionary political change.
Suffragists You Should Know

Susan B. Anthony (1820-1906) Symbol of the suffrage movement, Anthony was a strategist with sharp political instincts, the driving force behind the National Woman Suffrage Association, and single minded champion of a federal amendment.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton (1815-1902) Brilliant women's rights leader and forceful writer, Stanton authored the 1848 “Declaration of Sentiments” declaring “all men and women are created equal.” She and Anthony were political partners for 50 years.

Sojourner Truth (c.1797-1883) born into slavery, Isabella Van Wagener changed her name in 1843 and began preaching against slavery and for women's rights. She is best remembered for her dramatic “Ain’t I a Woman?” speech at the 1851 Woman’s Rights Convention in Akron, Ohio.

Alice Paul (1885-1977) Chief strategist of the militant wing, Paul founded the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage and the National Woman’s Party. Organizer of the White House pickets in 1917, she was jailed three times and force-fed. Paul authored the Equal Rights Amendment.

Nina Otero-Warren (1881-1965) Her fluency in Spanish and English persuaded women in New Mexico to become suffrage activists through the militant Congressional Union, of which she was the advisory council’s vice president.

Proposed Constitutional Amendments for 2010

To date, four proposed amendments to the state Constitution have been approved for the 2010 ballot. These include: Repeal of public financing requirement; Tax break for deployed military personnel; Property tax limit for non-homestead property and added exemption for new homestead owners; and Florida Hometown Democracy. To help you make an informed decision, this is the first in a series of articles outlining the Pros and Cons of each proposed amendment.

Amendment 4 Title: Referenda Required For Adoption And Amendment Of Local Government Comprehensive Land Use Plans (aka "Florida Hometown Democracy"

Ballot Summary: Establishes that before a local government may adopt a new comprehensive land use plan, or amend a comprehensive land use plan, the proposed plan or amendment shall be subject to vote of the electors of the local government by referendum, following preparation by the local planning agency, consideration by the governing body and notice. Provides definitions.

PRO
FHD requires a citizen referendum on all Comprehensive Land Use Plans changes approved by local governments. This increased voter oversight will:

- Eliminate loopholes to Florida’s Growth Management Act and protect communities from sprawl and over-development.
- Reduce the number of proposed plan amendments, because developers will be more conservative and careful about proposing changes.
- Increase citizen involvement by giving Florida voters the right to decide whether and how to amend their Comprehensive Plans.

- Preserve communities by ensuring Comprehensive Plan changes truly reflect the concerns of the voters.
- HRB proponents claim no special elections and no extra costs would be incurred, because each comprehensive plan amendment would be listed as a referendum item in the next regular election.

CON:
- Disruption & Cost. The referendum required for every proposed comprehensive plan change would strangle the amendment process and burden communities with the time and expense of holding additional elections.
- High-Priced Media Campaigns. Debates on controversial comprehensive plan amendments would favor deep pocket large developers over homeowner associations and grassroots groups.
- Unintended Consequences. FHD will not eliminate development, but will make well-planned, smarter growth impossible, instead encouraging piecemeal decisions – driven by popularity rather than necessity – as well as developmental sprawl.
- NIMBYism. Local governments would find it much more difficult to adopt amendments related to often controversial but much needed community projects, resulting in more costly or less desirable alternatives.
- Legislative Backlash. To avoid legal challenges, the Florida Legislature could change the plan amendment process, reduce the ability of citizens to challenge plan amendments, or undertake other alternatives that would render Florida Hometown Democracy – and Florida’s growth management process – moot.
